

ISRAELI FOOD-JUSTICE ORGANIZATIONS

Anonymous for Animal Rights – www.anonymous.org.il

Anonymous believes that our treatment of other animals should be governed by compassion and by equal respect of their needs and interests. The organization's largest current campaign calls for better treatment of chickens in the Israeli egg industry.

Farmers' Market – www.FarmersMarket.co.il

Farmers' Market organizes farmers' markets in Tel Aviv, Ra'anana, Herzeliya, Rishon LeZion, Netanya and Be'er sheva.

Hazon Yeshaya – www.HazonYeshaya.org/soup.html

Hazon Yeshaya operates soup kitchens throughout the state of Israel and they are open every day of the year, including Passover and Yom Kippur.

Israel Bio-Organic Agriculture Association – www.Organic-Israel.org.il

The IBOAA is the trade group for Israel's organic farmers, providing them with training and education. It also lobbies the Israeli government on behalf of organic-farming issues.

Jerusalem Open House – www.JerusalemOpenHouse.com

Jerusalem Open House operates a restaurant that serves free meals to the hungry every day of the year, including Passover and Yom Kippur.

Latet – www.latet.org.il

Latet serves as an umbrella organization to 120 nonprofit organizations in 80 communities of all sectors of Israeli society. This collaboration provides aid to more than 50,000 families and 200,000 needy individuals.

Leket Israel: The National Food Bank – www.leket.org.il

Leket distributes surplus food that would otherwise be discarded to people in need. An umbrella organization, Leket transfers more than 60 tons of food per week to 180 soup kitchens, homeless shelters, senior centers and other social-service organizations in Israel.

WWOOF Israel – www.wwoof.org.il

The Israeli branch of the worldwide WWOOF Organization allows volunteers to work on organic farms in exchange for free food and lodging.
